Public libraries in Queensland

State Library of Queensland works together with Local Government to ensure all Queenslanders have access to high quality public library services. A shared strategic vision: Realising our potential: A vision for Queensland public libraries communicates a shared and aspirational future for Queensland public libraries and Indigenous Knowledge Centres (IKCs).

Public library service models

There are three categories of governance for public library collections in Queensland: Independent Libraries, Rural Libraries Queensland, and Indigenous Knowledge Centres.

Independent Libraries (IND) are library services operated in councils with populations over 15,000. These library services are controlled by the local council, subject to the terms of the Service Level Agreement with the Library Board of Queensland. State Library of Queensland provides an annual Public Library Grant directly to the council to support the development of its library collection.

Rural Libraries Queensland (RLQ) represents a collaboration between local governments and State Library of Queensland to provide high quality public library services to rural Queensland. Regional councils with populations under 15,000 are eligible to join RLQ. These library services are controlled by the local council, subject to the terms of the Service Level Agreement with the Library Board of Queensland. In lieu of a cash grant, local governments operating RLQ services receive a notional allocation which funds the centralised purchase of library materials and resources.

Indigenous Knowledge Centres (IKCs) represent a collaboration between Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander councils and State Library of Queensland to provide high quality public library services and cultural keeping places in these communities. Councils are responsible for the physical infrastructure, staffing, and day to day operations of their IKCs. State Library of Queensland contributes financial support to councils to assist with operational costs including staffing, library collections and professional development. State Library of Queensland also collaborates closely with the Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander councils to provide guidance and assistance on programs, activities, and events delivered through IKCs to sustain ongoing knowledge transfer.

Facility types-

Administrative (A) – not open to the public, includes logistics hubs and coordination centres.

Branch (B) – a physical space that is operated and staffed by employees of the library service, has regular scheduled public access opening hours and provides one or more organised collections of information resources and library materials.

Community (C) – facilities opened to the public for less than 6 hours per week, may be operated by library service staff, volunteers or a combination of both.

Deposit station (D) – collections housed at locations unsupervised by paid staff or volunteers, operated on an honour or self-serve basis.

Kiosk / Vending machine / Self-service facility (K) – a point of service maintained outside of a typical branch facility, unstaffed and offering a limited selection of physical items. Does not include self-serve options within staffed branches.

Mobile (M) – a dedicated vehicle that is operated by employees of the library service, carries an organised collection of library materials, operates regular scheduled stops and offers services similar to fixed library facilities.

Other mobile (O) – includes small vans and trailers that do not offer the full range of mobile library services. Typical features include limited collection availability, staffed by non-library council staff or volunteers, a focus on specific or targeted programming or the “in home” delivery of library resources to clients.

Research / Corporate (R) – not open to the public, typically operated for council employees’ research needs or fee-paying clients.
